City Bans Public Interference At Fires By Action

Commission Passes Ordinance Making Interference Criminal Offense

Commissioners took action at the meeting Tuesday night in the city hall to protect the operation of the Fire Department from public interference in fire fighting operations within the city.

They passed an emergency ordinance prohibiting vehicles from running over fire hoses, protecting firemen and apparatus and authorizing firemen to control the vicinity of the fire. The ordinance states that no one but firemen, policemen and insurance agents or representatives are allowed in the immediate vicinity of the fire. It granted special police power to all firemen over 21 years of age and provided penalties for violation of the ordinance of not more than $100 fine or not more than 30 days in jail or both. The ordinance also amended an ordinance passed in 1948 for volunteer firemen at 18 years or over and regular firemen at 21 years or over.

Direct Commissioner H. O. Carlton reported that James J. K. Baker lent trucks to the city for furnishing fill for the new school grounds. After enumerating the number of trucks used on specific dates, Carlton said the city should recognize the service.

When questioned, Carlton said the county commissioner, in granting use of trucks, had no intent to be remembered. On request of Commissioner Walter Ashley, it was brought out that the city lent the county the use of a bulldozer and a man for a day and a half.

The commission passed an ordinance creating the position of assistant city clerk to act as deputy clerk of the municipal court, deputy tax assessor and deputy tax collector. The new ordinance amends the amendment of ordinance 714 which designated the city inspector as deputy tax collector.

Organizational Meeting Of Rice Coop Set Tonight

Scientist and Growers Declare Rice A Natural For Glades At Meeting Last Week

The permanent formation of the Glades Rice Growers Cooperative and the signing of interested farmers is set on the agenda of the second organizational meeting scheduled to night at 8 at the Elks Lodge hall.

At the first informational meeting held last Friday night, J. D. Johnson and W. W. Turner, two rice growers, and Dr. Victor Green, assistant agronomist at the Everglades Experiment Station, told of over 20 farmers and cooperative officials that conditions are favorable in the Glades for producing twice as much rice per acre than in any other rice producing area in the United States. The price produced here is the finest variety of rice in the world and of top grade, they said.

The two growers, who served on the informational panel, after several weeks of work, are producing successful commercial crops.

Pointing out the advantages of the Glades for rice production, Dr. Green said the only addition to normal fertilizer needed is iron sulfate in which the highest amount of iron is found. He said he is one of the most expensive fertilizer ingredients, offers a decided advantage to the grower.

WASHINGTON NEWS LETTER

U.S. SENATOR

Months. Our mutual combat experiences have brought us close together. One of my prime problems is to keep these men from feeling that they are forgotten men, and from feeling that the people in the States do not appreciate their sacrifices here.

Captain Neel says the least Congress can do is to provide the pending small increase in service pay which would tend to relieve the anxiety of many of the men regarding the needs of their families back home. It would be hard to deny such an appeal.

This war is real, and close to the heart of all our people. I (Continued on Page 6)

THANK YOU, LADIES

The city is coming of age. This judgment is not based only on the developments and improvements of tremendous magnitude which have taken place during the last several years. On the cultural side, too, the city is growing into something more than a place for farmers, cattlemen, business people and other residents to live and raise their families.

Last year for the first time, the city boasted a flower show which was something for residents to be proud of. However, this year the flower show displayed the culmination of about four years of growth in the space of a single year. It was much larger than the first show and was accredited.

The floral arrangements, horticultural specimens and artistic background of the show were the results of a lot of hard work and thought on the part of Garden Club members. The Glades garden actually growing in muck in the foreground of a water garden, gave the imagination and energy of the city. Their ability to plant and flowers fostered by favorable conditions in the Glades probably supersedes that of groups in our much larger east coast neighboring cities.

For an insight into the beauty of Glades plant and flower culture, we have them to thank, and for the inspiration to bring beauty into our homes and everyday living by artfully arranged, original floral pieces, we are indebted to them for their efforts. We also thank them for helping the city's cultural development keep pace with its physical, economical and social expansion. Thank you again, ladies.

chamber of commerce rice committee, who presided, and H. L. Spear, assistant county agricultural agent, recommended that the temporary officers go ahead with cooperative plans since findings and figures prove the crop is a "natural" for the Glades.

The group generally agreed that directors should proceed with plans for providing drying and milling facilities to process from 2,000-5,000 acres and to request the Department of Agriculture to include Florida in the rice price support program.

Leonard R. Toy, representing the Bank of Cooperatives, Columbia, S. C., said the bank will finance 50 per cent of the co-

ACCIDENT LEADS TO ARREST OF MOONSHINERS

Police apprehended two moonshiners Wednesday night as the result of an accident.

About 9:20 p. m., a station wagon driven by the moonshiners crashed into the rear of a 1951 English Ford driven by Jane Norris, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Norris, city.

The impact caused Miss Norris' car to spin and back into the Hillsboro Canal at about the 500 block on East Palm Beach Road.

Driver of the station wagon, Ruffino Guadalupe and passenger Vaudilio Diez, both workers at Okelanta Sugar Company, were booked on the charge of being in the possession of illegal whiskey. Other charges placed against Guadalupe were reckless driving and causing an accident. They will be tried before Judge N. D. Lloyd in Municipal Court tonight.

Jim Williams, South Bay, a passenger in the Norris car, pulled the driver to safety. Miss Norris was treated for minor cuts at the Belle Glade Memorial Hospital and released.

Eye witnesses to the accident said the station wagon pulled into a near by drive-way, and the occupants started hiding bottles of moonshine in the yard. They said the men made no attempt to assist the car in the canal.

Investigating officers were Sgt. J. A. Conington and Patrolmen Irvin Crabbe and Bryon Whitehurst.

CHARLESTON GARDENS IN FULL BLOOM NOW

Charleston's world-famous gardens, already ablaze with hues of scarlet, pink and lavender azaleas, have just been given a helping hand from the weatherman.

Originally, full bloom at Magnolia, Cypress and Middleton Gardens was scheduled for the last two weeks of March. But because of the perfect weather for preserving the full bloom, visitors will also be able to witness the color spectacle through the first week of April.

The garden owners are well-pleased with the weather this year. This was not the case last year, however, when a severe winter damaged the immediate bloom. The gardens made a great recovery, and to-day everything is completely back-to-normal.

In fact, the owners are predicting that this will be the best bloom since 1946. And even more pleasing are the visitors. This year, the number of tourists and travelers stopping at the gardens is well ahead of previous seasons.

While thousands of garden-lovers along the Atlantic seaboard annually wait for the full bloom to visit Charleston, the scores of historic houses are also attracting many visitors.

The Historic Charleston Foundation has arranged tours of 17 private homes, all of them splendid examples of 18th century architecture.

At Magnolia Gardens, long proclaimed the world's most beautiful, vistas and vistas of massed color are thrilling visitors. Massive trees overhung with Lady Banksia and Cherokee roses cover radiant arches of azaleas.

Middleton Gardens, housing the oldest landscaped gardens in America, is over 200 years old, and features terraces sloping down to butterfly lakes, with banks of blooms on every side.

At Cypress, black waters reflect the blazing azaleas colors. Boat rides through the inky fairland of beauty are among the visitors' favorites. In addition, the traditional spirituals sung on Saturday and Sunday afternoons by the Gullah Negroes.

Chairman of Eisenhower Chapter Runs On Dem. Tickets

The announcements of Mrs. Alfred C. Bergman, who has been Chairman of the St. Petersburg chapter of "Florida for Eisenhower," that she will qualify as a candidate for delegate at large to the Democratic National Convention, pledged to Dwight D. Eisenhower, has made it necessary to request the resignation of Mrs. Bergman as Chairman of the St. Petersburg chapter.

Mrs. Bergman, as a citizen and a registered Democrat, has, of course, the personal right to file as a delegate to the Democratic National Convention. Inasmuch, however, as General Eisenhower unequivocally stated on January 7, 1952 that he is a Republican, and as "Florida for Eisenhower" has pledged itself to work for the nomination and election of Eisenhower, it becomes clearly apparent that such support for the General must come through a nomination by the Republican Party as we continue to see the two-party system in America which nominates our Presidents.

We applaud Mrs. Bergman's statement that in filing as a delegate for the Democratic National Convention, pledged to Eisenhower, she is doing this because she wishes to see the General nominated by both parties and that it is just the fact that she is "for Eisenhower all the way." I feel that we must stand on the General's statement that he is a Republican and there, therefore, cannot condone any one directly connected with "Florida for Eisenhower," especially in an executive capacity, filing as a Democratic delegate for Eisenhower. We have the highest regard for Mrs. Bergman and appreciate the work she has done in organizing the St. Petersburg chapter and know in her own way she will continue to work for the election of Eisenhower as our next President.

Middleton Gardens, housing the oldest landscaped gardens in America, is over 200 years old, and features terraces sloping down to butterfly lakes, with banks of blooms on every side.

STATION DEVELOPS NEW STRAWBERRY OF FINE QUALITY

A superior new strawberry for both fresh market and freezing is announced by the University of Florida Agricultural Experiment Station's Strawberry Laboratory at Plant City, Fla. Limited quantities of plants will be available to growers, beginning April 8.

Dr. A. N. Brooks, in charge of the laboratory, says the new variety has been developed since 1948 and that it is superior in quality of fruit and yields. Plants are of medium size, fairly resistant to leaf-spot disease and high in ability to produce runner plants.

The fruit is typically long and pointed, although various variations may occur and some fruits may be wedge-shaped. The color is bright red, both inside and out. It remains bright red, even under several days of refrigeration. Flavor is excellent, slightly less acid than Missionary, and seed are not quite so prominent.

Over 6,000 plants of the new variety received favorable reception on the Northern commercial markets this season. Some terminals said Florida Ninety sold at a premium. It was also frozen commercially this season.

The Strawberry Laboratory has control of 70,000 plants which produced fruit during 1951-52 and which will be sold to growers, beginning April 8. Each grower will be limited to 200 plants, which will sell for a dollar.

Dr. Brooks says each grower will have to come to the laboratory, six miles south of Plant City, bring his own digging fork and containers (about six bushel baskets), and dig his own plants. Plants cannot be shipped at this time.

The grower should thoroughly clean his plants before he sets them in nursery beds. It is best to prune each plant to one bud, and in the process some side shoots can be removed with sufficient roots to make plants. Set the plants 18 inches apart in the row on a bed which will finally be five feet wide.

For three years Florida Ninety in nursery beds has produced around 50 plants for one. Each grower who starts with 200 plants now should have 10,000 or more for setting in October.

In October also the Strawberry Laboratory will have a limited supply of runner plants for fall setting. The price then will be $7.50 per thousand.

Anyone wishing to contact Dr. Brooks by mail should address him at Box 2388, Lakeland. The phone at the Laboratory is Plant City 65-571.

EFFORT IS MADE TO INCREASE FFA BUDGET

Good progress is being made to increase the operating budget of the Future Farmers of America, F. F. A. state and national advisers were told Saturday at a dinner for more than 150 delegates to the Central Regional Conference on Agricultural Education.

A report that many donors to the Future Farmers of America Foundation have either increased their donations or are planning to do so, was made by Roger M. Keys, Chairman of the Sponsoring Committee of the F. F. A. Foundation, and vice-president of General Motors.

An expanded budget for F. F. A. activities in 1953 is greatly needed to provide more cash for farm boys engaging in the various F. F. A. contests on local, state and national levels, it was pointed out.

During the program Kyes presented checks totaling $20,250, from General Motors, Firestone Tire and Rubber Company and the Rural Grange.

Group to Dr. W. T. Spanton, National Advisor to the F. F. A. from Washington, D. C., and disclosed that other companies had promised their full support to the farm youth activities.

General Motors was host at the dinner, held at the Blackstone Hotel in Chicago, and entertained the agricultural education group with a showing of G. M.'s "Pioneers of Progress," a science show.

SMATHERS NEWS LETTER

keep telling that our Marines and doughboys over there. I wish I could tell them all how Florida people spring promptly to their defense whenever they hear of some need which they feel is not being met.

A south Florida mother wrote me in anguish over the plight of a soldier given a long prison sentence for falling asleep on his sentry post. When I investigated, I found the whole story had not been told in the news reports: this sentry was discovered asleep by officers aroused by Communist enemy soldiers who were infiltrating past the sleeping man's position, ready to take the lives of the sentry's sleeping buddies.

A Florida Marine buddy of mine wrote me that the men in the rear area, behind the front lines, were not being given enough food. General Lem Shepherd, Marine Corps Commandant, investigated this matter, and I found the whole story had not been told in the news reports: this sentry was discovered asleep by officers aroused by Communist enemy soldiers who were infiltrating past the sleeping man's position, ready to take the lives of the sentry's sleeping buddies.

Korea's soldier experiences are close to Florida men, too. J. H. Cheely, of Williston wrote me, told of his personal visits to the messes in the area involved, and convinced me that there is no shortage of food except in unusual and isolated cases.

People write me about the widely reported "inferiority" of our jet fighter planes to the Russian-made MIG-15s. Senator Dick Russell, Chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, assures me this is not so except at altitude above 30,000 feet (more than five miles high). Our fighters have out-fought the MIG-15s consistently, he reports say. We have new planes on the way. But it takes 24 months to roll out new planes after production orders are placed!

We have been working on the privilege of voting for the soldiers. From information I have gathered from various sources, men in service who had previously registered have been voting privileges. Initial registration in Florida must be done in person.

Medical Specialty Groups To Meet In Hollywood

Sixteen medical specialty groups will hold their annual meetings in Hollywood April 26 and 27, just prior to the opening of the 78th annual meeting of the Florida Medical Association, it was announced today by Dr. Stewart G. Thompson, managing director of the state group.

The specialty societies, many of which will hold scientific sessions either before or after their business meetings, will present an appraisal of new techniques and new medical discoveries. Dr. Thompson pointed out, saying that the annual gathering of the specialized societies do much to promote the advancement of medical science.

The Florida specialty groups scheduled to convene in the Hollywood Beach Hotel, convention headquarters of all medical association activities are as follows: Allergy Society; American College of Chest Physicians; Association of Dermatologists and Syphilologists; Academy of General Practice; Health Officers' Society; Association of Industrial and Railway Surgeons; Society of Neurology and Psychiatry; Obstetric and Gynecologic Society; Society of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology; Orthopedic Society; Society of Pathologists; Pediatric Society; Proctologic Society; Radiological Society, and the Urological Society.

Response To Get Out The Vote Effort

Harold Cole, Executive Vice President of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce, expressed gratification today at the splendid response to the State Chamber's appeal for cooperation in a statewide "Get Out The Vote" effort.

Among the organizations that have already set up committees and are actively at work in the campaign are the Florida Farm Bureau Federation, the Florida State Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Florida League of Women Voters, Florida Press Association, Kiwanis International and many local groups.

Commenting on the splendid cooperation of the press and radio, Cole stated that a check of press clippings for the past two weeks revealed that Florida newspapers had published over 600 items urging citizens to register and vote while radio stations have been featuring frequent appeals, and he expressed the belief that this year Florida would be among the leaders in both registration and voting.

Doyle Carlton, President of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce, states that in response to several hundred letters to officers of the state organizations urging their support of the movement, he had received many letters assuring him that active campaigns would be carried on in an effort to impress upon our citizens the importance of registering and voting as a civic duty.

P. T. A. Notes

Due to the wild blustery winds and cold weather on March 17th our big P.T.A. supper was somewhat a failure. We certainly hope to have more of our members, patrons, and friends attend our next P.T.A. affair. This was poorly attended, but the spirit of cooperation continues with the faithful workers.

The busy little third graders have established a small business in their classroom. It is a store set up to accommodate the children and teachers with the necessary stationery, paper, pencils, candy, cookies, etc. The best thing is it is that the children operate the store themselves.
